MOVIES AND CHILDREN

Local motion picture houses cannot be dismissed as merely places of entertainment. Studies indicate that, above all, they play an important part in the education of the nation's youth. This is the general conclusion reached by Dr. Harold E. Jones, director of research at the University of California Institute of Child Welfare, in a report prepared for the quarterly journal of the American Association of University Women, Washington, D. C. PICTURES ARE POPULAR

First he cites studies made by himself and other scientists to show that the percentage of the population and particularly of the minor population, attending movies tends to be considerable. In one study it was found that approximately one-fifth of a city of some 75,000 attended one motion picture house in the course of a week.

The number of children represented was about one-third of the average daily school attendance, with children above 10 years represented in numbers 70 percent greater than would be expected from their proportion of the general population. In other studies in the San Francisco Bay area it was found that the average child spent about 10 or 15 percent as much time at the movies as in school. For many children this percentage mounted to (Continued on Page 3)

Slander Suit Is Brought By Martinez Mayor

MARTINEZ, Jan. 10.—The aftermath of Federal indictments brought several years ago, in which a number of residents of Martinez were involved and charged with the violation of an illicit still, which was disposed of some time ago, was the filing today in the superior court of a suit by Raymond E. Clavey, mayor of the city, against Frank P. Brady, a member of the council, asking for $15,000 for slander and punitive damages.

Clavey asserts the alleged slanderous statements were made at a public meeting held August 1, 1934, in which Brady is charged with saying:

"Yes, you bought your way out of the indictment and you know that you did."

Clavey asserts the statement was made with the intent to injure his reputation, and asks $10,000 damages on the slander charge and $5,000 additional for punitive damages.

Raid of the still, located almost in the center of Martinez, was made by the Federal and the Federal grand jury later brought indictments against Mayor R. A. Clavey, Judge Colton, Tom Keller and Buck Keller, in which they were charged with a violation of the prohibition act.

Colton, owner of the property, pleaded guilty, paid a fine of $1,000 and was put on probation for one year. T. Keller and his son served county jail sentences, and placed on probation, and the charges against Clavey, mayor of the city, whose truck, it was alleged, was found on the property, where the still was operated, was dismissed.

The indictment on which the slander suit is based took place nearly six months ago at a meeting of the council, when Clavey objected to a statement made by Brady in connection with the removal of a building.

"I am tired of hearing you insult the people of this city at our meetings and I ask you to please refrain from doing so in the future," Clavey allegedly said.

Brady is then charged with replying:

"Well, I was never indicted for possession of a still."

Clavey then allegedly countered with:

"The indictment to which you refer was dismissed because I am a good American."

Brady then allegedly charged:

"You bought your way out of that indictment and you know you did!"

Mayor Clavey in his slander action is represented by Attorney Tom Carlson of Richmond.

MYSTERY WOMAN IN LINDY TRIAL

STATE INCOME TAX IS PROPOSED

DR. CONDON CONFRONTED BY WITNESS

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 10.—UP—Jasie walked out of the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann today and a mysterious "woman in green" walked in.

She has come to stay, too, for defense lawyers said that some day they would put her on the witness stand as a final link in their attempt to prove that Dr. John E. Condon was involved in the kidnapping. Were it not for this woman in green, Jasie could claim an unbroken record of victories over Edward J. Reilly, chief defense counsel, with whom he feuded for almost two days over details of payment of $50,000 ransom. There were many vague and contradictory statements hanging in the steamy air of the courtroom when yesterday's session adjourned with Jasie still on the stand.

JASIE IS VERIFIED

But today he came in like a fresh breeze and blew them all out of the window.

Then Colonel Henry Breckinridge, former assistant secretary of war and advisor to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, got on the witness stand and helped blow away any fog of suspicion that yesterday may have left over Jasie. He verified all important details of the old man's story, and ended by giving him a character testimony.

WILL RETURN

"The defense promise that the 'woman in green' would return some day, before Hauptmann's right to live or die is written on a slip of paper and put into the hands of the jury foreman, and drag something from the past that Jasie will need to explain."

Visiting Hours At The County Jail Restricted

"Open house" all week has been discontinued at the county jail, said Sheriff John A. Miller announced yesterday.

If you have a friend in the bastille—perish the thought—it will be impossible hereafter to visit with him or her any time the fancy strikes you. Strange as it may seem the new sheriff has an idea that daily jail receptions are not just the proper thing, and the place next to the courthouses with its iron bars was intended for a house of confinement and not a site for the holding of pink teas.

Be he right or wrong the edict has not only gone forth, but has been conspicuously posted as well that henceforth and as long as Miller is sheriff the visiting days will be Tuesday and Friday of each week and the hours will be from 1:30 to 4 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4 in the afternoon. Those who have friends in durance viles can therefore govern themselves accordingly, for if they appear and seek admittance on other than the days and hours mentioned they will be just out of luck.

"I am tired of hearing you insult the people of this city at our meetings and I ask you to please refrain from doing so in the future," Clavey allegedly said.

Brady is then charged with replying:

"Well, I was never indicted for possession of a still."

Clavey then allegedly countered with:

"The indictment to which you refer was dismissed because I am a good American."

Brady then allegedly charged:

"You bought your way out of that indictment and you know you did!"

Mayor Clavey in his slander action is represented by Attorney Tom Carlson of Richmond.

RECORDS OF SLAIN MAN ARE STUDIED

Richmond police investigating the murder of Joseph C. Anthony, local service station owner, yesterday uncovered one of the most promising leads in the entire four-day investigation of the mysterious killing.

A little black leather bound book, such as police officers carry, was found in the dead man's effects by Police Chief L. E. Jones and his officers, who again searched the home and the service station yesterday.

RECORDS ARE FOUND

And, in this black book were found the minute records of Anthony's personal and business activities.

The little black book was started in 1926. In it are recorded in Anthony's handwriting, the names of persons he had met and the names of firms for which he had worked. In addition, he kept a budget, listing down his salary and his expenses. From a preliminary survey of the book, it is evident that Anthony kept account of every cent he had spent. On one day last year he noted: "Went to the show. Spent sixty cents; five cents for chewing gum."

NAMES STUDIED

Chief Jones, Inspector George Bendley, Inspector Harry Donnelly and Captain of Police Oliver Wylie are searching this record left by the dead man with high hopes of uncovering some clue that will lead to the apprehension of the killer. Every name will be checked and double checked; those whose names appear in Anthony's book will be contacted, if possible, and interviewed by police.

Police feel confident that somewhere in the dead man's records (Continued on Page 8)

Not A Police Officer, So D. A. Writes To Sheriff

Not a policeman, but a prosecutor, was the definition given of his office today by District Attorney Francis P. Healey.

The occasion for the note was the handing to the press of a letter written by Healey to Sheriff John A. Miller in which he drew a line of demarcation between the two offices and his concept of their duties.

In further explanation of the formal communication to the sheriff, Healey explained that "under his regime no investigator would be employed and as a logical sequence the making of arrests and the investigation of cases would naturally devolve upon the other official; that the services of an investigator might have been necessary in the days of the prohibition amendment but no occasion to employ one now. The letter setting forth his official attitude is herewith appended:

CHIEF JONES WARNS RUM STORES HERE

Police Chief L. E. Jones yesterday reiterated his instructions to Richmond police officers to strictly enforce all provisions of the liquor laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to minors.

Chief Jones' orders followed an investigation which has been started in San Francisco into alleged vice conditions prevailing in San Francisco beer parlors.

Immediately after repeal, Chief Jones ordered his officers to keep a watch on all places selling liquor, both for consumption on, or off, the premises. He has told his officers that if any minor is found in any liquor store, the proprietor shall be arrested immediately and the case be vigorously prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Mary Pickford Is Divorced From Doug

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—UP—

The "royal family of Hollywood" was finally dissolved late today when Mary Pickford obtained a divorce from Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., on a plea of mental cruelty.

In a quiet, three-minute proceeding that was terminated almost before she knew it, the slight blonde complainant placed the final stamp of failure on Hollywood's one-time "perfect marriage."

She answered only four questions to dissolve a marriage about which had been written and spoken many thousands of words.

She was succeeded on the stand by Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, her secretary, who corroborated the fact of legal residence and said to her knowledge the allegations in the complaint were true.

SHORT HEARING

Judge Ben Lindsey then announced that there was no necessity of going into details in the absence of Fairbanks, who had disclosed several months ago his intention not to contest the suit, and the decree was entered, three minutes after Miss Pickford had stepped into the courtroom.

Miss Pickford's demeanor as she entered the courtroom was calm. She was almost gaily dressed in a huge gray broadtail coat, gray frock, gray straw and cloth hat with a red feather and red scarf. She smiled at several acquaintances as she walked to her chair, then sat there quietly until called to the stand.

Her voice was steady and calm as she made her brief replies to her counsel's questions, and the proceeding moved with prearranged briskness to its close.

Man Fined On Liquor Charge

Pleading guilty to charges of selling liquor without a license, Leo Sassone, operator of a local liquor store, was fined $50 when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday morning.

Jonas Johnson, owner of another liquor store who is alleged to have permitted consumption of liquor on his premises, pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for next Thursday.

Johnson and Sassone were arrested by officers of the state board of equalization last Monday night.

Traffic Rule Campaign Now Is Under Way

Richmond police are continuing their drive for enforcement of the city and state traffic rules, according to a report made yesterday by Police Chief L. E. Jones.

Last month 297 traffic arrests were made by local traffic officers on San Pablo avenue and within the city proper, Chief Jones reported. Of these arrests, four were for driving while drunk.

As a result of the drive, police officers say, motorists are showing an increasing respect for city traffic rules and stop signs.

The drive will be continued throughout the year, Chief Jones said.

NEW SOURCE OF REVENUE IS STUDIED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 10.—UP—The frantic search for new sources of income for state governmental purposes was officially under way tonight with the introduction of one income tax measure and the preparation of another.

Both proposals have strong backing and are expected to be pushed early in the session, although direct action probably will await the governor's budget message.

NEW MEASURE

The first measure was introduced by Senator Andrew R. Schottky, Merced. It would provide an income tax levy of one-third the federal rate and raise an estimated $10,000,000 annually.

The second proposal, to be introduced by Assemblyman Ford Charters, Lindsay, and Jesse Mayo, Angels Camp, is the state measure which was passed by the 1933 legislature and vetoed by Governor James Rolph, Jr.

TELL PLAN

This bill would provide an income tax levied from 1 per cent on the (Continued on Page 8)

"Cerrito" Is Game's And Club Name

Following the securing of a temporary injunction to prevent the chief of police from interfering with the operation of their "Cerrito" game at 412 San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito, the owners of the game, through their attorney, Will S. Robinson yesterday filed articles of incorporation at Sacramento for what is to be known as the "Cerrito club."

The incorporators are George Furuta, Peter Furuta and Louis E. Davis. The company is capitalized for $10,000, divided into 100 shares of the par value of $10 each.

The place is to be operated as a social club, and the regular members will be limited to 100 who must each be the owner of one share of stock.

There will also be the "social" members, who will hold no stock, and whose membership will be unlimited.

The "regular" members not only have power to vote on all financial matters in connection with the club, but on social matters as well. The "social" members can vote on affairs affecting the social end of the club, but will have no voice in the finances.

The club will have bylaws and a constitution, and a regularly constituted set of officers. Salaries for the officers will be established. There will be no limit to the number of times the officers may be changed nightly.

"Cerrito" is the name of the game that is to be played, but other social games may be played as well.

Attorney Robinson asserts there will be no gambling permitted in the club, and anyone attempting it will be ejected.

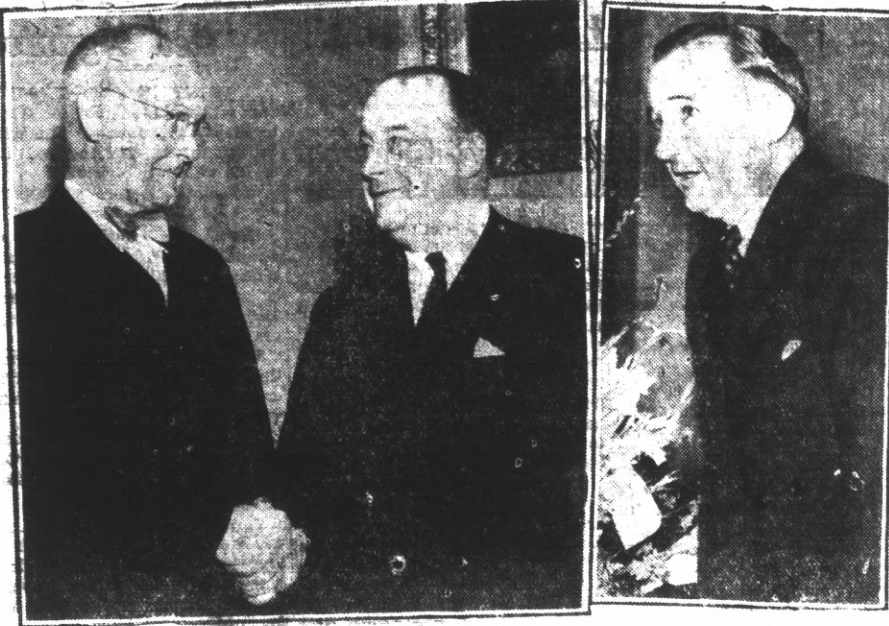

The new club is rumored after many of the clubs that are being organized in New York.

The injured were treated at the Cottage hospital, and were later sent to their homes.

THEIR INFLUENCE

Because of this popularity, Dr. Jones points out, the motion picture is deserving of consideration as an influence for good or bad. With the cooperation of Dr. Herbert Conrad he tested the memory of a thousand individuals for information provided in five different films. Contrary to the popular belief that all people, including children, are passive and mentally dormant during a moving picture, it was found that a surprising amount of information was remembered later.

Tests were made without telling the people in advance that they would be required to answer questions. Twelve and thirteen year old children often turned in perfect memory scores. Further experiment revealed that the memory score after the lapse of a week was 80 percent as high as it would have been immediately after the picture was shown. Ordinary lectures, even to a college audience, usually are only 60 percent retained after the lapse of a week. This indicated that young people are in a highly assimilative state at a motion picture, and the impression left is durable.

RACIAL EFFECT
Similar studies on the question of race prejudice showed that certain films had a pronounced effect on preference for or prejudice against definite racial groups. Dr. L. L. Thurstone of Chicago, for example, found that the film, "The Birth of a Nation" led to a marked rise of prejudice against negroes in a middle western town. "The Big Parade" and "What Price Glory" were found to be associated with prejudice against Germans in a study made by the League of Nations Union, while "The Four Sons" was found by Dr. Thurstone to have just the opposite effect.

THE SUBJECTS

Concerning the type of material contained in the average motion picture, Dr. Jones cited a study by Dr. Edgar Dale of Ohio State University. In a list of 115 pictures selected at random, it was found that there were depicted 23 cases of assault and battery, 15 kidnappings, 21 kidnappings, and 71 deaths. Dr. Jones says: "This preoccupation with combat and carnage should not be interpreted directly as an indictment of the motion picture producers, for to a large extent they are providing only what experience has shown to be attractive to the greatest number of people."

Contract For New Courthouse Signed

OAKLAND, Jan. 10.—The first contract for construction of the new Alameda county court house and hall of records was signed today and work on the $2,000,000 project will start within ten days. EIGHT NAMED TO DISTRIBUTE RELIEF COIN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Appointment of eight of the nine members of the new California unemployment relief commission was announced today by Governor Frank Merriam. The ninth appointee will be named later, he said.

The commission will administer $1,000,000 in relief funds approved by the electorate November 6. Having Democratic party adherents, the executive named the following: Dwight Murphy, Santa Barbara, rancher; Dr. Glen E. Carlson, San Bernardino relief director; Dr. Monroe Deutsch, Berkeley, University of California professor; Maurice Harrison, attorney and Dan C. Murphy, banker, both of San Francisco; Irvin Lipsitch, Los Angeles welfare leader; Mrs. Earl Treadwell, San Mateo, relief commissioner of San Mateo and San Francisco; and Mrs. Florence L. Turner, state director of social welfare.

Although Dwight Murphy refused the appointment, the governor said he stood drafted. Mrs. Turner's appointment is required by law.

Lipsitch, Mrs. Turner and Dwight Murphy are Republicans. A fourth Republican will be appointed from Northern California the governor said. Both Murphys were members of the old relief commission.

Three county supervisors who were disqualified following their election, due to failure to post bond, were appointed by the governor. They are: George C. Denmon, Salinas, and Walter M. High and Fred E. Deer of San Mateo.

Work must start within ten days and Catucci said he was prepared to "go ahead immediately."

DRIVER MUST FACE CHARGES FOR FATALITY

STERILIS, S. D., Jan. 10.—UP—

A warrant charging first and second degree manslaughter for each of the six children killed in the Sterilis school bus crash today was issued late today by Judge J. H. Roberts.

Roberts, who said he believed to have been a passenger in the school bus, said that the driver, a woman, was driving the bus at the time of the crash, according to coroner George Tisdale of Meade county.

The coroner said that investigation of the accident revealed that Roberts was driving the truck, which was at the scene of the crash, at the time of the accident.

"The evidence is now too strong to require a coroner's inquest," John P. Everett, state's attorney said. "A preliminary hearing of the case is planned for Friday morning."

The accident occurred, according to Coroner Tisdale, when the truck swerved to the wrong side of the road. P. Landahl, driver of the bus, said he also swerved across the road, hoping to "pass the truck in the wrong side." The two heavy machines crashed head on. The bus was overturned, its top ripped open. Three children were dead before help arrived. Three more died a little later.

Ruth Stille, 12, and Ruth Jones, 15, who were among the six most seriously injured and taken to a hospital at Rapid City, were reported in critical condition tonight.

Effort To Get Germany Back In League Fails

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—UP—An apparent British effort to get Germany back to Geneva "by the back door" failed tonight.

Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath informed British Ambassador Sir Eric Philips that Germany will not participate in the League of Nations council session on the Saar vote, convening at Geneva tomorrow.

Von Neurath said in view of Germany's withdrawal from the League, a year ago last Fall, it was impossible to sit in on this meeting, although the withdrawal is not fully effective until two years after filed.

The ambassador's call on von Neurath was regarded as another attempt by England to induce Germany to return to the League.

Dead Gangster Is Linked With Jewel Robbery

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—UP—Russell Gibson, member of the notorious Barker-Karpis gang, slain Tuesday night by federal agents, was linked today with recent Chicago jewel robberies.

Gibson was identified by police as the Roy "Slim" Gray who they believed took part in the $110,000 robberies of three New York jewelry salesmen.

He was indicted in St. Paul under the name of Glen Gray on charges of complicity in the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul brewer.

Arthur "Doc" Barker and Alvin Karpis, long sought by the Department of Justice are believed responsible for the abduction.

Conflict May Develop Over Reserve System

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Banking legislation, a subject President Roosevelt did not touch in his message to Congress, gave promise tonight of becoming subject of minor conflict in Congress this session.

An undercover movement of Capitol Hill to eliminate direct federal control from the federal reserve system by removing the custody of the treasury as an ex-officio member of the board seems likely to force the administration to reveal its hand, as runs directly counter to plans for increasing government control of banking.

Proponents of the movement are drafting a bill which is regarded as a reply of banking and industrial interests to agitation for a central bank. The history of previous attempts along this line in dealing the measure had a good chance to pass.

Police Battle With Mobs In Anti-Nazi Riot

SAERBRUCKEN, The Saar, Jan. 10.—UP—Cavalry and mounted police battled with mobs in the streets today during one of the worst riots of the dangerous pre-plebiscite period.

Arrival of German South American troops to vote in Sunday's plebiscite precipitated the disturbance. The Nazi German front organization had its usual cordon around the railway station. Suddenly opposition groups appeared. They jeered the Nazis, and sought to break through their lines in an effort to reach the platform. They charged the Nazis were seeking to show the arrivals that all was unified and calm in the Saar, and all in favor of voting for rejoining the Reich under Nazi rule.

Mounted police charged the massed ranks of Nazi sympathizers. Three Nazis were reported injured in the melee.

IDLE WORKERS ARE INSURED BY NEW PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—UP—

An unemployment insurance plan which would give idle workers an income ranging from $4 to $15 a week was proposed to the legislature tonight in a report completed by a special joint committee named by the 1933 legislature. After two years' study, the committee, headed by B. J. Feigenbaum, former assemblyman from San Francisco, recommended a plan with the following salient points:

1.—Establishment of one reserve fund for all industry, with employers segregated by industries.

2.—Protect all workers except certain agricultural and cannery workers, personal or domestic servants in homes, teachers, public officials and casual and part-time employees.

3.—Contributions to the reserve fund to be made at the rate of 3 percent of the payroll to be paid by the employer and 1 percent of the wages received to be contributed by the worker.

4.—Benefits would amount to an average of 65 percent of the weekly wage, in no event to exceed a maximum of $15 a week or a minimum of $7. Benefits would start four weeks after the worker registered as an unemployed person and he would be entitled to payments at the rate of one week or every four weeks of contributions he had made.

5.—The unemployment insurance fund would be administered by a new department including a board of five members appointed by the governor.

Borah Comes To Aid Of Small Business Man

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—UP—

Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, bitter foe of monopoly, today opened his fight to protect the little business man in the shifting economic picture guided by the new deal.

He introduced in the Senate a bill to license all corporations engaged in interstate commerce and warned that this measure would be followed by a federal incorporation act.

Thus, Borah reasoned, business and industry will have their choice of reorganizing their capital structure to meet stiff federal incorporation requirements or to comply with demands of a federal license.

"The aim and purpose of the act," he explained, "is to bring commercial corporations engaged in interstate commerce under practically the same supervision and control as now obtains with reference to common carriers."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Acute Articular Rheumatism Is Very Serious Disease, Requiring Expert Treatment and Bed Rest

ACUTE articular rheumatism, or rheumatic fever, is a very common and very serious disease, especially for children and young adults. It commences with chills, followed by high fever, rapid pulse, and sweating and great weakness. There is also acute pain with tenderness, swelling, heat and redness in one or more of the large joints.

It comes in more than half the cases but there is a history of tonsillitis or cold in the head a week or more before.

It sometimes affects only one joint at first, but usually it begins in two or more joints, particularly the ankles, knees, wrists, or elbows, and then spreads rapidly to other joints.

It is most likely to occur in the fall and winter in the temperate zone, when, as a result of wet and chilly weather, infections of the throat and nose are most prevalent. The onset is usually very sudden with high fever, severe pain, and great prostration.

The swelling and redness of the place of trouble are severe, and the affected joint is so painful that any movement may cause the patient to cry out with agony. Even the bed covers may be too heavy and the patient wants to be left entirely alone.

HE WILL cry out with pain if you even approach the bed. There is rapid loss of flesh and strength, fever is high and sweating profuse, so the condition becomes serious at once. It is a most discouraging disease. A few joints may be affected; suddenly it may leave them and attack some other joints with an increase in fever and pain and swelling.

The whole system is affected. It may last for a day or two and become better, only to start again; and the entire course of the acute attack may be several weeks. The joints are immovable during the attack, but after the pain and swelling subside weakness results, though seldom any stiffness of the joint.

The most serious results are in damage done to the heart, its inner lining, valves and muscles. It is probable that this occurs in ninety per cent of the cases that last over four or five days. This damage to the heart is great, and it is very probable that a large number of the heart disease cases found in later life are the result of one or more such experiences with rheumatic fever.

One attack leaves the patient more liable to other attacks. When the disease occurs, absolute rest in bed until the fever has disappeared is imperative.

BED rest must be insisted upon even if the pain does not require it, since infection of the heart is sometimes not apparent at first, and the rest will help to control its severity. Pleurisy, pneumonia, and especially chorea or St. Vitus dance are frequent results and the bed rest helps to prevent these.

The affected joints should be wrapped in cotton pads. An ointment composed of guaiacol, one dram; menthol, 1/2 dram; and lanolin, one ounce, applied frequently and kept covered will aid in controlling the pain and relieve fever and swelling.

There is one type of drug for rheumatic fever and that is the salicylates. Salicylate of strontium may be given, 15 grains every hour for ten or twelve doses or until the ears begin to ring and then continued in smaller doses till the disease has passed. This controls the pain and overcomes the infection in the blood stream.

In severe cases sedative drugs may be required for a short time. After the fever, swelling, and pain have disappeared, bed rest should be insisted upon for some weeks. An abundance of fluids, good nourishing diet, and frequent bathing are necessary. Removal of diseased tonsils and treatment of sinus troubles will aid in preventing the recurrence of the fever.

Guide to Charm

TAKING TIME IS OLDER WOMAN'S BEAUTY SECRET

By JACQUELINE HUNT

YOUTH can get away with almost anything. The young girl can dash home from skating, change swiftly into her prettiest dress and be off again to a dance or party, and her freshness and enthusiasm will make her charming, even though her hair is unmanageable and her make-up is not applied as skillfully as it should be.

The older woman cannot cram for good looks, however. If she wishes to look attractive at a special party, she must keep her complexion clear and lovely, and her hair trained to stay the way she wants it by daily care. Many business women keep themselves smartly groomed by having a maid (one each week for a vacation facial, a shampoo, and perhaps a manicure).

All of us cannot afford to go to a salon, but every woman should have time for a special facial treatment each week, a shampoo, wave and manicure. Of course, daily care must not be overlooked. The skin needs daily cleansing and sometimes lubricating.

Scrub the hands thoroughly each night, work back your cuticles and massage a rich cream into them to keep them soft and pretty.

Practice your make-up tricks in private, too—when you have lots of time. Find just the right shade of powder to enhance your complexion tones and you will know that your skin is lovely when you want to appear your best on special occasions. Find the best shades of rouge and lipstick for your special gowns.

Vivid gowns may radically change the apparent shade of your lipstick or rouge, so you will need a color that is quite different from that ordinarily used. Of course, you need special treatments for very special occasions. But take them patiently in advance so your skin or hair can adjust itself. If you use a mask or a circulation ointment, better use them four or five hours before you are due at your party so any high color or blotches will have time to subside.

If you know about the party in advance and you know that your hair is loveliest a day or two after you have had your waves and ringlets set, then get your wave a day or two ahead of the important date.

The same applies to a manicure. The nails and cuticles are smoother a day or so after the manicure. If you use a vivid shade of nail polish, you may want to apply it just before you dress for the party. Be sure that you can do the job leisurely, for vivid shades of polish must be smoothly and carefully applied. Any irregular edges are glaring and spoil the otherwise smart accent of gay nails.

Sardines Prove Handy

Keep a supply of boneless and skinless sardines on hand. Mashed, these are easy to spread on crackers to be served with a cocktail when the unexpected guest drops in. Mashed sardines may be extended by the addition of cream cheese.

Frederick P. Keppel, President of Carnegie Corporation, Thinks College Education Useless

IT PROBABLY takes an educator to come right out and say that college educations today are washouts, and the man who makes this statement is Frederick P. Keppel, who attended Columbia, Pittsburgh, Hamilton, Union, Michigan, and Toronto Universities at various times. Mr. Keppel now is president of the Carnegie Corporation, and has the responsibility of spending the income from $150,000,000 each year.

Some time ago Mr. Keppel defined education as "something you got in youth, like the measles, and from which you were afterward immune."

Of course, that's a harsh summation, but there was a twinkle in his eye when he spoke. He explained that he believed the academic arts do not exist in the United States, that we have no art tradition, only a business background. He and Robert L. Duffus wrote a joint report for the President's Research Commission on Social Trends, pointing out that it was useless for a young man to go to college.

Mr. Keppel has had a long, honorable and busy career. Son of an international art dealer, he spent his later formative years at the colleges and then started in the publishing business. This was not a world-shaking achievement but in 1910 he received a call from Columbia to be Dean. Some persons called him "the gloomy Dean," because even then his outlook on education was dark.

During part of the war he was Third Assistant Secretary of War, a director of the Red Cross in sixteen countries, and the first American commissioner of the International Chamber of Commerce in Paris. He did not return to America until 1922, when he worked on New York City's regional plan. The next year he became president of the Carnegie Corporation, and has been there ever since.

Mr. Keppel is a well-knit man, and gives the impression of being a big business magnate.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "My fingers are short and stubby. Can you tell me how to file my nails to make my fingers seem more slender? I have tried wearing them in points, but they break so badly I have had to quit doing them that way.—Rose."

Nails that are only slightly pointed at the tip are really much prettier and give your hands a better balanced appearance. Wear them only moderately long and keep the tips clean and white. Apply your nail polish well toward the middle of your nails instead of over the entire nail from side to side and be sure that the pretty half-moon at the base of the nail is uncovered. These tricks give your fingers a more slender, shapely appearance.

QUESTION: "How can I make my cuticles smooth? At present they are ragged, hard and rather badly stained.—Jane T."

Only prolonged neglect would account for the present condition of your nails, and it will take a week or two of extra care to get them into condition again. Begin by scrubbing your hands carefully, working up a good soapy lather and scrubbing this into the cuticles and around the nails with a good brush. Rinse with warm water, dry, and apply a liberal amount of cuticle remover. Leave this on a few seconds, and scrub your hands again in warm water and soap. Take a towel and use the fingers of the opposite hand to work off the deadened cuticle. Dry and work a rich cream into the fingertips. Repeat this treatment every day or two.

Tasty and Nourishing Dishes for Today

Rice, When Light and Fluffy, Is Appreciated By Everybody

By JUDITH WILSON

RICE is the daily food staple of more than half of the world's population. While we do not serve rice every day, we all like rice when it is properly cooked, and we appreciate the number of hearty main dishes and desserts that can be made. Rice deserves to appear on our tables more often, and it will, once we have mastered the trick of turning out tender, fluffy whole grains beaten together.

One of the easiest methods of cooking rice is with a rice ball. Put one cup of rice into this container, let cold water run through until the water is clear, then put into a large kettle of rapidly boiling water to which one teaspoon of salt to each quart of water has been added.

Cook until the rice is tender—twenty to twenty-five minutes for white rice and about forty minutes for the brown. Before taking the rice from the ball, rinse with hot water and drain. One cup of uncooked rice makes four cups when cooked.

Frozen Rice Pudding
Scald two cups milk in the upper part of a double boiler and pour over the yolks of two eggs and one-half cup sugar that have been beaten together. Return to the double boiler and cook, stirring constantly until the mixture coats the spoon. Add one cup cooked rice and two cups drained, crushed pineapple. Chill. Fold in one cup of cream, whipped and one-half teaspoon salt. Pour into the freezing tray of a mechanical refrigerator or pack in equal parts ice and salt for three hours. Unmold and serve plain.

East Indian Curry
Peel, slice and fry a medium sized onion until a delicate brown in two tablespoons butter. Add two tablespoons flour and one teaspoon curry powder and blend thoroughly. Add one bay leaf, a sprig of parsley, one-half teaspoon salt and then one cup light cream and one cup veal stock or water. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Strain, add two cups diced cooked veal and heat thoroughly. Serve over four cups cooked rice.

Rice Gumbo
This makes an excellent dinner dish. Dice three-fourths pound ham and one pound of lean beef and brown in a little fat. Add two tablespoons of chopped parsley, one onion sliced, one green pepper, chopped, and one-half cup of chopped celery. Cook the mixture for a few minutes and add two cups water, and four cups canned tomatoes. Cover the skillet and simmer until the meat is almost tender, then add four cups sliced okra, a teaspoon salt, a few grains pepper and a bay leaf and simmer uncovered until the okra is tender and the stew thickened. Shape a border from cooked rice on a large platter and fill the center with the gumbo. Coffee and a light salad or dessert completes the meal.

Rice Custard Pudding
Beat three eggs slightly, add five tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, a spoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, three cups milk and two cups cooked rice. Mix thoroughly, then pour into a baking dish, set in a pan of cold water and bake in a slow oven until the custard is set so that a knife inserted in the center will come out clean. The usual baking time is about forty minutes. This is a delicately flavored dessert that is especially appreciated for luncheon or after a rather elaborate dinner.

Rice Fruit Compote
Beat an egg, add two tablespoons sugar and one-half cup milk and cook in a double boiler until the custard coats a spoon. Add one-half teaspoon each vanilla and lemon extract and three cups cooked rice and mix well. Pour into individual molds and chill. Turn into serving dishes and garnish with any stewed fruit.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "I am to be best man at a wedding to be given in the late afternoon. The groom was planning to wear a business suit, but now tells me that he has decided on evening attire because the bride will be dressed in white and wear a veil. As this will be an informal wedding and as I have been asked to wear a business suit myself, will you please set us straight? Obviously, something is wrong somewhere.—C. D."

ANSWER: At an informal daytime wedding the bridegroom should wear an ordinary business suit. The best man, and ushers, always dress precisely as the groom does. It is a bride's privilege to wear the traditional white and veil at her wedding, be it ever so informal. However, it is more in keeping with such a wedding these days for a bride to choose a less conventional costume, either a becoming afternoon dress with matching hat or a traveling outfit.

QUESTION: "At a luncheon recently, we were served chocolate sauce for dessert. A fork and spoon were placed beside each plate. Was this correct?—V. C. F."

ANSWER: Yes. The spoon is used first and the fork is used for the cake foundation. After using the spoon, it is laid across the side of the plate, where it is joined by the fork when one has finished eating.

You and Your Child

DAD RESOLVES TO LET GRANNY SEE KIDS OFTEN

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

IT WAS the morning after the night before, and he was the morning after New Year's Eve. Dad pulled his bathrobe around him snugly and addressed mother between yawns. "That was a great party you gave last night," he said. "And sending the children off to their grandmother's like that was also a happy thought." Mother beamed with pleasure and waited for dad to fill his pipe. He continued, "The way I feel today, makes me hopeful about the new year. It is a good start." He took several short puffs. "I'm not so badly off. I have a job, sure as it is. But then I have you and the children, which more than make up for what I may lack." Then suddenly and with a little embarrassment, "I wonder what makes me so philosophic? Do you suppose it is the pipe or the new bathrobe?"

Mother laughed. "Maybe it is the new year," she suggested. "A new year is said to affect some people that way. It makes them hopeful. I revised old resolutions and restored self-faith. That's why we make New Year Resolutions, I guess. But then I'm sure the pipe and the new bathrobe must have something to do with it too."

"Speak for yourself, Betty," daddy offered good-naturedly. "Remember, you yourself are in negligee and bedroom slippers, with your hair in a braid down your back. All dressed up to philosophize, as it were. By the way, what new year resolutions are you making? The same ones?"

"To be a better mother. To look for the motives in back of the children's deeds; never to punish while angry. To..." "Never to threaten or make promises, unless I can and mean to carry them out," mother interrupted. "To try to set the children a good example in honesty, loyalty, industriousness, and everything I want them to be. And above all, to be patient and forgiving, as most childish mistakes are the result of accident or ignorance."

"Good for you," dad cheered, and put an arm around mother. "They may be the same old resolutions, but they're worth striving for." He raised the free hand solemnly. "Resolved: That grandmother shall have the children more often. A man is entitled to more than one such morning a year!"

Short Cuts

An ideal birthday gift for the young man in high school or college is an electric tie press. It is a brown suede cloth case and comes equipped with electric cord and wall plug. The tie is enclosed in this case, and the heat takes out wrinkles.

You've probably never thought of using canned beans as a sandwich filler. Neither did we until invited to try the following mixture. Baked beans seasoned with salt pepper and a little finely chopped celery. It goes well with beer.

MODERN WOMEN

Families Have No Right To Listen In When A Girl Entertains Her Fiance In The Living Room

GLADLY do I take up the torch for young girls who are placed in the embarrassing position of having to take their boy friends outdoors—anywhere—in order to get a word in without the entire family straining their ears.

"Dear Mrs. Martin: I think it is perfectly awful for young people to be in the living room in the moving picture theaters, but nevertheless I am one of the guilty parties. When my boy friend calls we have no privacy, because our apartment is small and not until all the members of the family go to bed can we say one word to one another that isn't overheard. My father is reasonable enough. He takes himself off after my company arrives, but my mother and my sister and my brother hang around until all hours. Naturally, this is hard on any engaged couple, so we go to the pictures, where we can hold hands in the dark. Sometimes he puts his arm across the back of the seat and then the people behind us make remarks. I do not blame them and sometimes I feel the same way when a couple in the row ahead go into a clench."

"Should I fight this issue out with members of my family, or have my father do it? He is very sensible about things and realizes that an engaged couple have many things to discuss, and naturally like a little pecking now and then. In a few months I hope to be married and in a home of my own, and my boy friend says that he never wants to see any of my relatives after we are wed. I do not blame him much, but I think this dislike could have been avoided had my family shown a little consideration. Annoyed."

Fight it out with your family, by all means. It ought to be an easy victory, since your father is on your side. Let him take care of your mother, who probably sits around fondly imagining it is her duty, when she would much rather be doing something else. Send your brother and sister packing. An engaged girl has some rights and privileges.

It should not be necessary for you to seek sanctuary in the dark recesses of a moving picture theater in order for you to have a privacy—if you can call it that. Unless your young man makes more money than most, it must be a considerable strain on both his finances and affections to have to do his courting on the pay-as-you-enter plan.

IF YOU don't care to go into this matter with your mother, although I cannot see why not, go to your understanding father and tell him just what's in your mind. I think you can trust him to clear the deck for you.

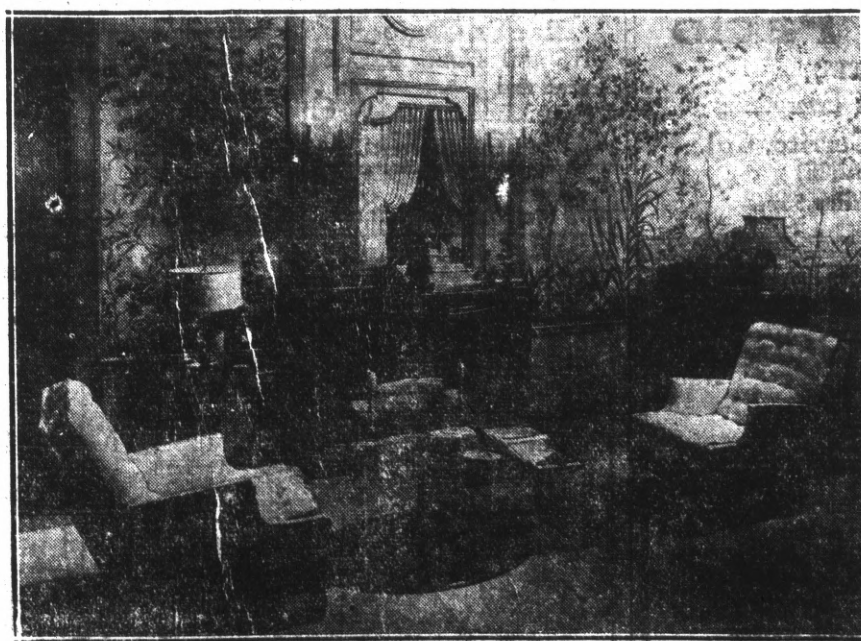

It's a most unfortunate state of affairs when boys and girls have to do their courting in movie houses, park benches, in restaurants, or in bars. Not long ago a most unhappy young man and woman were that he was terribly afraid his wife had fallen into the habit of drinking. And he blamed himself and her parents for it, because he said that during the days when he was courting her, they had no place to go excepting to a too convenient speakeasy. They used to sit in this place all evening, and, of course, had to have something on the table before them. He maintains that had they been able to meet at the girl's home and not been completely surrounded by family disturbances this most unfortunate state of affairs would never have occurred.

It sounds stilted and old-fashioned, but if there is no other way couldn't you have prior rights to the living room on certain evenings a week? You must, of course, remember that the family life has to go on. You cannot expect to monopolize the living room, but do try for some adjustment of the present scheme, which seems highly undesirable from every angle.

A COMFORTABLE FIREPLACE GROUP

Against a background of Chinese floral paper, mahogany and old Chinese porcelain are especially pleasing. The two chairs are upholstered in cream corded velvet. The wall paper features trees, birds and flowers in coral and cream yellow. The carpet is deep coral. This is one of the many "modernized Victorian" suites.

Little definite action was taken by either house today as routine sessions were called to permit the introduction of bills.

ASK FOR BONES

The Senate joined the lower house in memorializing Congress to provide immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus. Approval also was given to charter amendments for the cities of Pasadena and Compton and the Alameda county charter.

Another proposal to add the taxpayers of United means was presented by Assemblyman E. V. LaRocca. It provided for a percentage of limited means was provided for the exemption from taxation of the property of a person who is a member of the armed forces of the United States.

A threatened controversy on the floor of the assembly was averted when consideration of a resolution relating to an assembly suggestion of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury was postponed until tomorrow. The author, Assemblyman Charles A. Hunt, Los Angeles, said the inquiry was necessary because the Grand Jury had become a "political football." Other members of the Los Angeles delegation opposed the resolution as unnecessary.

Prosecution Of Plumbing House Is Recommended

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—UP—The newly organized Western Regional NRA Compliance Council tonight announced a recommendation that the Northwestern Plumbing & Heating Company of Portland, Ore., be "prosecuted vigorously" for alleged violation of code wage provisions.

The case, first to be handled by the council, concerned charges that the company paid less than code wages to its employees, and also attempted to obtain receipts from its workers for wages which should have been paid under the code.

The council suggested that an NRA litigation staff man be assigned to assist the United States district attorney in Portland to handle the matter. The case was placed before the latter official by the Oregon NRA director.

LOSS OF GOLD CASES WOULD BANKRUPT NATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—UP—Argument of the gold cases which administration defenders contend carry an implied threat to the new deal recovery program, reached its final stage today with members of the bench vigorously questioning the lawyers for the government.

Questions centered on the contention that paying off gold obligations dollar for dollar at a time when gold has been devalued is a taking of private property for a public use without just compensation.

Should the court hold with this claim it would mean that every claim called for in a gold clause obligation would have to be met with $1.65 in present day currency. It would add to the public and private debt of the nation $8,600,000,000 based on the assumption that the present debt is $5,000,000,000.

Questions were fired at the government lawyer from all sides of the bench. In addition to the recognized members of the so-called conservative group, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Justice Harlan Fiske Stone were active in the interrogation.

nel, hasn't been a crack criminal lawyer for 20 years for nothing. He was talking to Jafse when suddenly he whirled and bellowed:

WOMAN APPEARS

"Is Mrs. Koerna in the courtroom?"

Nothing happened at first. Then she came pushing through the crowd.

Heilly led her around to the witness chair until she was two feet from Jafse.

"Now Dr. Condon," he said, "tell us whether you ever saw this woman before."

"RECALLS HER"

Jafse took a minute to answer and then said: "Why yes, she came to my home one time with a Mrs. Koehn."

Heilly handed two letters to Jafse.

"Did you ever see those before?" he asked.

"Yes, I have."

"Did you tell this lady standing in front of you that the handwriting in those letters was identical with that of the handwriting of the kidnaper?"

"I showed Jafse."

"SPEECH MADE"

And then Heilly made a speech to the court, promising that before the trial was over the "woman in green" would come back and confess that she had been paid to write the letters and that her own handwriting was identical with that of the kidnaper.

Plan Revolt To Set Up Soviet State In Cuba

HAVANA, Jan. 10.—UP—Charges that members of the Young Cuba party believed guilty of recent terrorism, were plotting a nation-wide revolt to set up a Soviet state were voiced in urgency court today.

Major Raimundo Ferrer, one of the high army officers searching for Antonio Gutierrez, alleged leader of the Terrorist-Communist group keeping Havana and vicinity in turmoil with bomb outrages, made the charge during inquiry into the recent violence.

The major said the army investigators so far had failed to run down Gutierrez, believed in hiding in Havana since a recent attempt to "put on the spot" a number of officials regarded by the outlaws as "traitors" to the rebellion.

The search is continuing in the hope of finding arms deposits as well as the ring leaders in the purported Red uprising against President Carlos Mendicta and his comparatively conservative regime.

Tugs Are Rushed to Disabled Steamer

BORDEAUX, France, Jan. 10.—UP—The steamer Meknes, enroute to Casablanca from Bordeaux with 100 passengers, sent out an SOS call tonight. The ship enveloped in fog attempted to drop anchor. The chains caught in her propellers and she reported herself drifting helplessly about 50 miles out of Bordeaux. Tugs were rushed to her aid.

Not A Police Officer, S. D. A. Writes To Sheriff

Sheriff and District Attorney attempt to be police officers. There is, in such instances, an overlapping of jurisdiction which discards the people of a county from placing responsibility for lack of proper law enforcement upon one or the other of these County Officials. This overlapping of jurisdiction and consequent failure to fix responsibility for lack of proper enforcement is not fundamentally sound, and is exceedingly expensive.

"The people of this County, by a substantial majority, expressed their confidence in your ability to police this County as Sheriff."

"With these things in mind I do not feel it incumbent upon me, myself, to refuse to repose this confidence in you by attempting to act as a policeman."

"Until such time as it may become necessary, if ever, for the District Attorney to make arrests for 'moral law' violations, such as ordinary gambling law violations, this office will act as a prosecutor of these violators after you have arrested them and brought them in for prosecution."

"With your facilities and your expressed desire to strictly enforce these so-called 'moral laws,' I feel sure that economy can be effected by the elimination of this duplication in activities of the Sheriff and District Attorney and that we can look for real, efficient criminal administration in this County."

"Feeling that the citizens of Contra Costa County are entitled to know the policies which their officials intend to pursue, I am forwarding copies of this letter to the newspapers of the County."

Respectfully yours,
"FRANCIS P. DEALEY,"
DISTRICT ATTORNEY

After the conference adjourned Sheriff Miller was asked if he received the letter from the district attorney, replied in the affirmative and made no comment beyond: "I guess that is the law."

Revolt Against Dictatorship Of Kingfish Grows

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—UP—Louisiana's newest political eruption boded trouble tonight for Senator Huey P. Long, who converted the state into a dictatorship and left it in charge of servile officials while he went to Congress to save the country from the capitalists.

New leaders were springing up among the people. Old anti-Long forces rushed to their banners. Threats and rumors filled the air.

Recruits by the hundreds joined the "Square Deal Association" under the leadership of Ernest Bourgeois, 29, unemployed refinery worker. He is a college graduate with a wife and three children, spellbinding oratory and a definite campaign.

Backed by prominent anti-Long businessmen Bourgeois served an ultimatum on Governor O. K. Allen, Long's puppet, giving him until next Wednesday to call a special meeting of the legislature to repeal the dictatorship laws by which Long seized control.

3—At a late hour Harvey E. Teller, foreman, and his special Grand jury committee were in conference with District Attorney Brannan on methods of curbing juvenile vice.
